HOW TO PREVENT DRY SKIN DURING WINTER

Use Sunscreen

Sunscreen isn't just for Summer. The sun can be just as harsh in Winter and can dry out your skin terribly. Apply Sunscreen to exposed areas 30 minutes before leaving the house.

Don't take super-hot (or long) showers

Nothing sounds better than a steaming hot shower on a cold day, but hot water is actually the enemy of dry winter skin. Too much hot water causes increased evaporation of your skin's natural hydration.

Avoid harsh Cleansers on the skin

Use a gentle cleanser or milk cleanser that won't strip skin of its natural oils. These oils are needed to protect overall moisture of the skin. Also Exfoliate the skin once a week to remove bits of dead, dry skin and debris.

Use a thicker moisturiser

In Winter you may need a moisturiser that is richer and more hydrating to your skin. The thicker texture "seals moisturising ingredients into dry, cracked, flaking skin," making them adhere for long-term, intense healing.

The facials have made such a difference to my skin. You can feel it pumping the blood and making my skin cells healthy.

DERMABRUSH

The DermaBrush is an energy enhancing cleansing brush, which helps to intensify your daily cleanser for a deep and thorough clean.

The DermaBrush has fine silicone rubber teeth that create space between your cleanser and your skin, with the added air promoting more intense foaming for a superior clean of your skin.

The silicone teeth also aid by gently lifting off dead skin from the surface of the face.

The DermaBrush is compatible with any skin cleanser and you either apply your cleanser directly onto the DermaBrush or use after applying your cleanser to your face with your hands.

Cleaning the skin thoroughly is so important before the use of any active skincare products so they can penetrate deeper into the skin and be more effective.
